Marks End Of 9 Years' Planning

Oil Flows From Alaska

PRUDHOE BAY, Alaska (AP) — Clanging and banging its way across the tundra, a mechanical "pig" pushed by hot crude oil will signal whether the trans-Alaska pipeline works and whether it is worth all the effort that went into its construction.

The "Oil in," scheduled for 2 p.m. EDT today, is the beginning of the end of nine years of planning and building in the biggest and most expensive private construction project ever.

It means 1.2 million barrels of oil daily soon will be on its way to market.

"We've done a damn good job," declared William Darch, president of Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. "Our destiny is in our hands. The problems are now ours to solve, which is a very good position to be in after the last couple years."

It cost $7.7 billion to build the 800-mile-long tube from Prudhoe Bay here on the Arctic Ocean, 250 miles north of the Arctic Circle, to the port of Valdez on Prince William Sound. Development of the wells at this end of the pipe cost an additional $4 billion.

No speeches, ceremonies or special events heralded the startup. Oilmen said the first opening of the valves — directed by a computer in Valdez — would be about as exciting as turning on a garden hose.

"We deliberately wanted to be low key about this," said a spokesman for Alyeska, the consortium of eight oil companies formed to build the line. "We'll have some sort of celebration later."

"We want to do this as efficiently and quietly as possible," another public relations man said. But he added, "of course, this is tremendously important for all companies involved and for the nation. It brings years of frustration to an end."

The U.S. Interior Department gave final clearance to move the oil about 26 hours before the official startup time. By then, oil had already begun to flow from wells in the 25-by-10 mile North Slope field into feeder lines and storage tanks adjacent to Pump Station No. 1.

A week ago, the first 85 miles of the 48-inch pipeline was filled with non-combustible nitrogen gas to eliminate the possibility of an explosion when the oil goes in.

Just before the valves are opened, the first of three large 'pigs' will be inserted into the pipeline. The eight-foot, 200-pound plastic devices fit snugly into the line to act as barriers between the oil and nitrogen.

Then, when the valve opens, oil driven by 13,500-horsepower pumps at Pump Station No. 1 will push the pig through the line. The contraption is equipped with electronic devices and metal parts that will knock on the inside wall of the pipe. Crews walking along the line will track the pig electronically and by ear to monitor the progress of the oil and the soundness of the pipe.

When the oil reaches Valdez, it will be pumped into tankers. After that, its destination is not as certain. West Coast refineries are not set up to handle the high-sulfur oil from Prudhoe Bay. Proposals for making use of it have ranged from sending it to the East Coast by way of the Panama Canal or a pipeline, to trade-off arrangements with other nations.

Tips On College Costs Listed

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The thousands of students getting ready for college this fall face record costs, but there are several steps individuals can take to cut expenses and ease the strain on the family budget.

A recent survey by the College Entrance Examination Board showed that the typical student attending a private, four-year college and living on campus will spend $4,905 for the 1977-78 academic year, up about 5.2 per cent from last year.

The same student who chooses a public four-year college and lives on campus will spend $3,005, up 4 per cent from the 1976-77 year.

The biggest difference in costs between public and private colleges is in the area of tuition and fees, which also accounts for the biggest chunk of a student's spending, according to the College Board, a nonprofit organization that provides tests and other services for students and educational institutions.

Board experts urge students to consider financial aid — even if they think their family income is too high to qualify. Income alone is not the determining factor. Family size and obligations also may be taken into account.

"Families concerned about paying rising college costs should consider financial aid as one alternative," said Elizabeth Suchar, director of financial aid services for the board's College Scholarship Service. "The purpose of financial aid is to help students attend a college they otherwise couldn't afford."

The scholarship service offers a free pamphlet to help students figure out which types of financial aid they may qualify for. The booklets are available from high school counselors, community agencies and college financial aid administrators.

It is generally too late now to apply for financial aid for the fall term, particularly when it comes to federal programs, but there are other things you can do to cut costs.

—Consider living at home. The College Board study shows that the student who commutes can save from $400 to $600 a year, depending on transportation costs and other expenses.

—Make an expense budget for incidentals including books and supplies, transportation, laundry and recreation and try to keep to it. The College Board says incidentals account for 18 per cent of the cost of a year at college. As a general guide, you can expect to spend about $200 for books and supplies and $400 for personal expenses. Transportation will range from $200 to $400, depending on whether you live on campus or commute.

—If you have not settled on a college, consider a public institution. Tuition and fees at public, four-year colleges will average $621 for the 1977-78 year, compared to $2,476 for similar, private institutions. Warning: students who are not residents of the state where the college is located can face extra tuition charges of $100 to $1,500.

Steve Stevenson of Circleville is in his second year playing James Galloway in the outdoor drama, "Tecumseh!" His enthusiasm for the show is evident and he is proud of the people and setting he works with.

"It is like one big family of people," he said about the cast. "No one feels 'better' than anyone else, just because he or she may have more lines."

LE Grad Surprised With Award

MARLON D. LUCKHART

During graduation exercises at Logan Elm High School, the Tommy G. Huffines Memorial Award was presented.

The surprise announcement was given to Marlon D. Luckhart, who was enrolled in industrial arts at the school.

The memorial award is given annually by the widow of Tommy Huffines, Brenda List Huffines. Tommy was killed several years ago in an automobile accident.

The award, given this year to Marlon, is given to a student planning to study industrial arts in a college or technical school.

Marlon meets the standards as being comparable to Tommy during his high school years. Principal Dow West describes both of them as having "high goals, cooperation and being good school citizens."

Marlon, the son of Wanda Butler, Route 4, and David Luckhart, Jamestown, was on the basketball, baseball and golf teams during high school. He was in the FFA, a member of the Morris Chapel United Methodist Youth Fellowship, 4-H, and on the county 4-H Committee.

Presently he is working at the Laurelville Grain and Mill Store.

Wiebenga Named Wittenberg Provost

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Wittenberg University President William A. Kinnison has announced the appointment of Dr. William M. Wiebenga as provost of the university.

Dr. Wiebenga, 39, has been dean of the college of arts and sciences at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Tex.

Wiebenga, a Danforth and Woodrow Wilson scholar who earned his doctorate in philosophy at Yale University, will be the chief academic officer and the second ranking administrative officer at Wittenberg.

Stevenson recalls his first year playing James Garrison and the help he received from the other cast members. Suggestions were given and accepted through interaction with all actors and actresses.

"It especially helped me," Stevenson said, "because it was my first year in the play."

During the month of straight rehearsals Stevenson knows daily when he has to arrive for his scenes. The call board maps out the daily plans, and each one of the players is responsible for it.

Make-up is no problem with Stevenson, because his wife Sandy helps him apply it. Kevin Haney, the play's make-up artist, gives instructions to each of the cast, usually written and verbal. Mrs. Stevenson uses these instructions each evening the play runs.

The physical changes of the production also impresses the actor. There are about 220 lighting instruments, some shown at the top of the photo.

Dr. David Weiss, the play's original director and also an internationally acclaimed lighting designer, is updating the instruments in "Tecumseh!" He has worked for many outdoor dramas and is a consultant for the Institute of Outdoor Drama, in Chapel Hill, N. C.

Physical improvements on Sugarloaf Mountain include the expansions of the box office and ticket booth. The drama's huge artificial cliffs and rock formations are also being resurfaced.

Stevenson explained that the artificial setting is formed with foam over chicken wire on a wooden frame.

The construction crew, Stevenson and the rest of the cast are polishing up the set and finishing rehearsals for Tuesday's 8:30 p.m. opening. The outdoor drama runs through Sept. 4 nightly except Mondays.

Weather

Partly sunny and cooler today with a high temperature in the low 80s, cloudy and cooler tonight with a low near 60, and partly cloudy and continued cooler Tuesday with a high in the upper 70s. There is a 30 per cent chance of rain today and a 20 per cent chance tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Saturday were 87 and 65, and Sunday were 85 and 61.

Andy Young Curbs His Tongue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andy Young, the fastest mouth in Jimmy Carter's administration, is watching his tongue. His last spate of headline grabbers was as riveting as bank errors in your favor. But it was a bit too much, even for Andy Young.

To say nothing of the President.

Carter's free-spoken ambassador to the United Nations is being more careful about what he says, according to a source close to the President. Not that Carter thinks there's anything wrong, at least in principle, with Young's penchant for speaking his mind.

But it can have what the President calls "unfortunate" results.

To wit:

Andrew Young, itinerant preacher of the Carter gospel to the developing nations of the world, spent 17 days crossing 25,000 miles of Africa on what the President considered "a very successful trip."

On his way home, he stopped in London. There, in Britain, to whom he had to apologize earlier this year for saying Her Majesty's subjects were "a

Brezhnev Visiting In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev arrived in Paris today for his first foreign visit since being named president of the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev was greeted by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, a 101-gun salute and redoubled security measures following a telephoned false alarm that a bomb had been placed in the Orly airport terminal building.

The government banned demonstrations protesting the three-day visit and Soviet violations of human rights. But ultra-rightists who turned out in defiance of the ban Saturday night and battled police on the Champs Elysees promised "spectacular" new protests today and Tuesday.

Brezhnev's visit is one of a series of Franco-Soviet summit meetings. He was last in Paris in December, 1974, and Giscard d'Estaing went to Moscow in October, 1975. But that trip turned sour when the French president suggested publicly that detente be extended to the ideological conflict between the West and Moscow.

Recently both governments have been working hard to improve relations.

The concrete achievements of Brezhnev's visit are expected to be economic. An agreement is to be signed for a long list of new French projects in the Soviet Union that are to triple Franco-Soviet trade by 1980. Brezhnev reportedly is seeking $1 billion to $2 billion in French credits to finance the trade increase.

little chicken on racism," Young called the Russians "the worst racists in the world."

"The Swedes are terrible racists," he added. "The black in Sweden is treated just like the black in Queens." Diplomats cringed, and those who worry about things like votes in the boroughs of New York broke into a cold sweat.

Then that Carter nemesis, Playboy magazine, arrived. There, in an interview, Young said former Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford were racists, too, "who have no understanding of the problems of colored people anywhere."

Even there the matter did not rest.

Two days later, Young told the House International Affairs Committee that Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson were "racists."

And so, he declared, was Abraham Lincoln.

To be sure, Young meant no attack on personal character. Not even the Soviet Union, he said, ought to be condemned. There should be "no

State Demos On Spending Spree

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It would be difficult to find a bunch of happier politicians than Democrats in Ohio's Senate, after discovering more than $100 million to distribute among tightly budgeted state programs.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, presided over his finance committee last week like the biggest cat at a backyard mackerel party, as members readied the state budget bill for a floor vote this week.

"It's nice to be able to spend a little money for a change," said the bushy black-haired Meshel, smiling, after recalling that two years ago, the same committee had to cut about $100 million from the House budget.

Meshel and the seven other Democrats on the 11-member committee proceeded to parcel out some $103 million—mostly to welfare and education, but also some smaller amounts to a variety of pet Democratic programs.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, and other Republicans had some ideas about where to put the new money, after beginning with what he called "the shocking thought that we could give Ohio's taxpayers a rebate." That idea met with dead silence.

The Republicans tried without success to restore $30 million in higher education funds the House had cut from GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget proposals, along with some other House reductions.

It may not have been an accident that the House lopped from the Rhodes budget almost exactly the same amount the Senate put back. However, Meshel and other Democrats restored the funds to other spending areas. "We have different priorities," he said.

The biggest addition by the Senate was $58 million for primary and secondary education—on top of an already substantial increase from the last biennium voted by the House—and $30 million to hike Aid to Dependent Children welfare benefits—averaging out to $12 a month for a family of four.

Then came a parade of nearly 100 amendments in which the remainder of the $103 million went to projects that ranged from the status of women and a school desegregation study to expansions at state dental schools and a program to assist senior citizens living at home with counseling on shopping and consumer-related problems.

Meshel won approval of a $1 million allocation to help implement a controversial bill he is sponsoring to establish collective bargaining procedures for public employees.

Sen. William F. Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati, one of the Senate's two black members, got $250,000 to finance a legislative study on school desegregation problems, including busing.

moral judgment," he declared, because racism, as he used it, means "ethnocentricity." And from that, he said, "nobody is immune."

Young said he was talking about people who "were never forced to face up to latent racism or to realize it exists." In fact, he said, everyone in the United States is inevitably tainted, and his goal is to bring "ethnocentrism" into the open and strip it of its "moral stigma."

All of which is a little hard to fit into a headline. Instead, the words "Swedes," "Russians," "Queens," "Nixon," "Ford," "Kennedy," "Johnson," "Lincoln" and "racist" were the ones that stuck out.

"People were not getting any insight into what he was doing in Africa, what he has been doing all along," the Carter source said. "He has been laying down the beginning of an adequate foreign policy in areas where we had none."

Will Young try to be more cautious from now on?

"Andy himself says so."

Public More Hostile Toward Journalists

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of the nation's top journalists attending a national conference on investigative reporting here this weekend said they feel the public is growing more hostile toward journalists.

Carl Bernstein, a former Washington Post reporter who first began exposing the Watergate affair with reporter Bob Woodward, said Sunday he feels an "attitude of contempt for the press," especially among public officials.

"Our credibility remains undiminished, despite Watergate," Bernstein told about 550 journalists and students attending the second annual conference of Investigative Reporters and Editors Inc.

Bernstein, now a freelance writer, said polls traditionally indicate that public opinion of journalists is low, and verbal attacks by former Vice President Spiro Agnew inflamed the situation in the pre-Watergate days.

But polls showed the public image of journalists improved after the news media disclosed the Watergate coverup and related wrongdoings in the federal government.

Since then, Bernstein said reporters have been participating in an "orgy of self congratulation" because of their role in Watergate.

"I think there's nothing less gratifying than mutual back-slapping about Watergate, either about the press in general or the Washington Post's part," he said.

Los Angeles reporter Bill Farr, who still faces a jail sentence for refusing to reveal news sources, told an IRE workshop he believes the public "perceives us as being arrogant."

"I think the level of disrespect and the element of disenchantment is frighteningly high," Farr said.

Washington columnist Jack Anderson said he thinks a crackdown on reporters has already begun, and the government "is going to end up treating us like other governments treat their obnoxious reporters."

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, got $375,000 to expand the dental program at the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo. She also won committee approval of $125,000 to set up a legislative information office on the status of women. Valiquette successfully sponsored the women's equal rights amendment in Ohio in 1973.

And so it went. Minority Republicans in the House, while attempting to restore the $100 million cut from the governor's budget, predicted the Senate would "find" some money when the budget reached that chamber.

Find it, the Senate did. Senators found $43 million in a scheme to accelerate payments of state income taxes deducted by employers from their employees' pay checks, described as a "one time pick up" during the next biennium; and $30 million in federal funds which somehow had gone unarmarked in the House.

Additionally, the Senate decided to cut into the $95 million the House had put aside in the budget to help solve the state's cash flow problems during months of low tax revenues.

The figures indicate the Senate cut the surplus to about $65 million, although Meshel insists his committee implemented some cost savings which will leave the surplus "considerably more than $65 million."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andy Young, the fastest mouth in Jimmy Carter's administration, is watching his tongue. His last spate of headline grabbers was as riveting as bank errors in your favor. But it was a bit too much, even for Andy Young.

To say nothing of the President. Carter's free-spoken ambassador to the United Nations is being more careful about what he says, according to a source close to the President. Not that Carter thinks there's anything wrong, at least in principle, with Young's penchant for speaking his mind.

But it can have what the President calls "unfortunate" results. To wit: Andrew Young, itinerant preacher of the Carter gospel to the developing nations of the world, spent 17 days crossing 25,000 miles of Africa on what the President considered "a very successful trip."

On his way home, he stopped in London. There, in Britain, to whom he had to apologize earlier this year for saying Her Majesty's subjects were "a

AMA Attacks U.S. Cost-Cutting Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Runaway medical costs are largely the fault of U.S. medicine's "highly expensive and noncompetitive industry," says the government's top health official, warning the American Medical Association to reform or expect greater federal control.

The AMA response was to warn doctors against a "relentless, mindless" governmental bureaucracy that cares only for cost control.

Joseph Califano, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, told the AMA that the Carter administration views medicine in the United States as "big business" — and one that is badly run.

The average family spends nearly $1,600 a year on health services because of privately run medical care, said Califano, yet doctors are poorly distributed, insensitive to costs and not concerned enough with preventive medicine.

"Reasonable cost has not been the strong suit of either American medicine or most of its physicians," he told the group Sunday. And he questioned how an industry without competition would have the incentive to bring good health care to all citizens.

The immediate reply from AMA executive vice president Dr. James Sammons was that "health is not the top priority in the new administration.

Pay For Abortions Curbed By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled that neither the Constitution nor federal law requires states to pay for abortions when the lives of mothers are not endangered.

In a series of opinions on cases from Connecticut and Pennsylvania, the high court voted 6-3 that the Constitution's assurance of equal protection under the law and the provisions of the Social Security Act do not mean that states have to pay for elective abortions — even though the states provide financial aid for poor women who decide to bear children.

The court, in striking down the decisions of two lower courts, ruled that Pennsylvania officials did not violate the Social Security Act by refusing to pay for elective abortions. The court also said that Connecticut officials did not violate the equal-protection safeguards included in the 14th Amendment by refusing to pay for elective abortions for women on welfare.

The court's decision, however, said states are free to supply such welfare payments for poor women if they choose to do so.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. wrote the court's majority opinion. He was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Byron R. White, William H. Rehnquist and John Paul Stevens.

Justices Thurgood Marshall, William J. Brennan Jr. and Harry A. Blackmun dissented.

"The Constitution imposes no obligation on the states to pay the pregnancy-related medical expenses of indigent women or indeed to pay any of the medical expenses of indigents," Powell's opinion said.

Welfare rights organizations and civil liberties attorneys had argued that if states pay for childbearing costs incurred by poor women they had a legal obligation to pay for abortions by poor women.

The court rejected that argument.

In another decision, the court, again voting 6-3 with the same dissenters, decided that public hospitals have no legal obligation to provide abortions for poor women.

The Supreme Court in 1973 ruled that all women have a privacy right which entitles them to choose to end their pregnancy during its first three months.

Pay For Abortions Curbed By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled that neither the Constitution nor federal law requires states to pay for abortions when the lives of mothers are not endangered.

In a series of opinions on cases from Connecticut and Pennsylvania, the high court voted 6-3 that the Constitution's assurance of equal protection under the law and the provisions of the Social Security Act do not mean that states have to pay for elective abortions — even though the states provide financial aid for poor women who decide to bear children.

The court, in striking down the decisions of two lower courts, ruled that Pennsylvania officials did not violate the Social Security Act by refusing to pay for elective abortions. The court also said that Connecticut officials did not violate the equal-protection safeguards included in the 14th Amendment by refusing to pay for elective abortions for women on welfare.

The court's decision, however, said states are free to supply such welfare payments for poor women if they choose to do so.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. wrote the court's majority opinion. He was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Byron R. White, William H. Rehnquist and John Paul Stevens.

Justices Thurgood Marshall, William J. Brennan Jr. and Harry A. Blackmun dissented.

"The Constitution imposes no obligation on the states to pay the pregnancy-related medical expenses of indigent women or indeed to pay any of the medical expenses of indigents," Powell's opinion said.

Welfare rights organizations and

Father's Day Present Alive

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — No one can quibble with Susan Blackwell's timing. In honor of Father's Day, she presented her husband, Dennis, with a son.

Shortly after 11 a.m. Sunday, James Dennis was born at St. Vincent Hospital here. He weighed seven pounds, seven ounces.

It wasn't the first time a Blackwell child entered the world at an appropriate moment. Two years ago, Mrs. Blackwell gave birth to a daughter, Lori Ann, on May 11 — Mother's Day.

A Page Of Opinion

Good Advice

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd's advice to the White House to "cool it" in trying to place the failure of the Carter energy proposals on a caveat by Congress under pressure from industry lobbyists is good advice.

The dismal performance of the President's legislative program under fire indicates two opposites: The lack of groundwork laid by the White House staff in either assessing congressional sentiments or doing their own lobbying effectively, and the apparent success so far by both Senate and House leaders in putting their act together as an independent branch of government.

This Congress is not going to be a pushover — that is the message Congress is sending to the White House in large type. There have been few outward signs of rebellion on the part of the majority party's leadership in Congress, but when the votes are counted presidential proposals have been losing by an unusually topheavy margin.

Nor is the President going to help his legislative efforts by railing against Congress or appealing directly to the public to help pressure the lawmakers into favorable action. The kinds of proposals the White House has been sending to Congress are not the kind to create groundswells of public support.

To rescue the administration's goals, the White House is going to have to revamp its strategy. Instead of massive new government programs and accompanying bureaucracy it needs to show a forthright willingness to work with Congress in halting the growth of government, to begin work now on reducing the huge federal deficit, to provide industry greater freedom and less oppressive taxation and regulation to stimulate growth and needed jobs, and to begin work toward solving the nation's problems through well thought-out programs.

That approach would find Congress far more cooperative.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 20, the 171st day of 1977. There are 194 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, the French Revolution began.

On this date:

In 1632, the English crown granted the colony of Maryland to Lord Baltimore.

In 1837, Victoria became Queen of England on the death of her uncle, King William the Fourth.

In 1863, West Virginia became the 35th state to be admitted to the Union.

In 1867, President Andrew Johnson proclaimed the treaty for the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

In 1898, the United States seized the island of Guam in the Spanish-American War.

In 1963, the United States and the Soviet Union agreed to establish a "hot line" communications system between Washington and Moscow to help prevent war.

Ten years ago: An all-white jury found Cassius Clay, later known as Mohammed Ali, guilty of refusing induction into the military service.

Five years ago: The United Nations Security Council voted to condemn aerial hijacking.

One year ago: The United States Navy carried out an evacuation of 263 Americans and other foreign nationals from Beirut in Lebanon.

Today's birthdays: The Pretender to the Spanish throne, Don Juan, is 67. Playwright Lillian Hellman is 72.

Thought for today: Everybody needs his memories. They keep the wolf of insignificance from the door. — novelist Saul Bellow.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My 16-year-old daughter has suddenly developed an uncontrollable appetite. There is no limit to the amount of food that she can consume. Even if I keep the refrigerator empty she'll somehow manage to find enough food to stuff herself. She's getting fatter by the minute and I'm frantic.

Mrs. S. S. C., W. Va.

Dear Mrs. C.: There rarely are medical reasons for such uncontrolled, gluttonous appetite. Most of the reasons for such compulsive, ravenous patterns of eating are psychological in origin.

To find these causes is a difficult task that cannot be done by you or other members of the family.

The advice of a psychologist or psychiatrist is essential. And do it now. Don't wait until an enormous weight gain causes your daughter such embarrassment and frustration that she will "eat herself" out of all social relationships.

Once the psychological cause for "bulimia" (overeating) is found, the pathway becomes clear and she will once again take pride in her appearance. Then, in conjunction with medical supervision and a rigid diet, she will lose weight and gain the happiness that every young person should enjoy.

I either have rheumatism, arthritis or both. At least that is the state of confusion I'm in. Is there a difference?

Mr. H. R., Ga.

Dear Mr. R.: I can understand your confusion because so often these terms are used interchangeably by the laity.

Physicians, however, use the terms more strictly. The term "rheumatism" applies to acute and chronic conditions associated with soreness and stiffness of the muscles, with pains in the joints and nearby structures.

Rheumatism can also include some forms of arthritis due to injury, gout and infection. There are, in fact, so many forms of rheumatism that so closely resemble arthritis that the distinction is hardly necessary from the point of view of the layman.

Arthritis is an actual inflammation of the joints, accompanied by pain, tenderness and changes within the joints. Arthritis, too, can be caused by infection, injury or gout.

Don't guess. Ask your doctor for the definitive diagnosis.

A New Sewing Machine

By JIM BISHOP

She was a large woman with dark red hair and little question mark bangs on her forehead. Her name was Walburga Oesterreich, married to a wealthy drunk named Fred. He was a beaming baldy whose pale blue eyes seemed to float in oil.

Fred made Walburga nervous. He accused her of smiling at strangers. Nothing aroused Walburga more than the truth. She picked arguments with him in his apron factory in Milwaukee. She used her knee. Fred howled.

The reason Walburga fluttered her eyes at strange men was because she was looking for one with super-human qualities. One day the Singer Sewing Machine Company sent a boy named Otto Sanhuber to fix her sewing machine. After that, the sewing machine never had a healthy day.

Otto was 17 and emaciated. When he turned sideways, he almost disappeared. After a few rehearsals, Walburga went out of her mind over Otto. The kid's appetite for food and love was insatiable.

Fred ordered his wife to buy a new machine. She said she liked the one she had. She jolted him with her knee to make her point. Walburga had a serious problem. She had to find a way of preventing other women from discovering Otto and his talent for repairing things.

She found an attic trapdoor. "How about moving up there, Otto? You won't have to work ever again. Besides, you can have all the food you want and, when Fred is away, you have the run of the house."

Otto meditated to a count of three. "All right," he said. "And when you need me..." she grinned. "I know, sonny boy. I know," she said. He moved into the attic, spending his time reading and writing.

He waited patiently for the tap-tap on the trapdoor. When she climbed down, Otto always insisted on lots of food before making repairs.

The boy became a man in the attic. He ate prodigious amounts of food but never gained an ounce. He was short, skinny and pale after three years. Fred wanted to hire a maid for his wife. She said she wouldn't trust a maid in her house. And that was God's truth.

Fred drank more and more. In bed he complained that he heard coughing coming from the attic. "Either you have bats in your belfry," Walburga said, "or a mouse has caught a cold. Shut up and go to sleep."

He continued to hear strange noises.

Fred moved out and rented another house. Not, of course, without Walburga's approval. Skinny Otto was in the attic before the rug was down in the living room.

More noises. Fred was afraid to investigate. He went to a doctor. And what do doctors prescribe when they do not understand the problem? A good long rest. Instead, the Oesterreichs moved to another house with louder noises.

Otto had been in the attic six years when Fred came home unexpectedly and caught the young man with his head in the refrigerator. Fred administered a beating and tossed Otto out on the lawn. Otto Sanhuber could take a hint.

He fled to Los Angeles. He got a job as a janitor, somewhat of a comedown from the attic. He wrote to Walburga and told her he was sorry. She too was sorry. Fred forgave her the man in the refrigerator and all the mouse noises. He loved her. On the other hand he felt ill when he saw a sewing machine.

Fred stopped drinking for awhile. It made him melancholy. He wanted to give up the apron factory and move far, far away from Milwaukee. His wife hugged him. "How right you are, dear," she murmured. "How about Los Angeles?" That, he said, would be far enough.

They rented a house. When Fred canvassed the city to start a new business, Walburga had a carpenter cut a hole in the ceiling of her closet. Within a few days, the original mouse was up there with his own refrigerator.

Nye Receives Minnesota Post

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — William B. Nye, former Ohio director of natural resources, was named by Minnesota Gov. Rudy Perpich today to be that state's commissioner of natural resources.

The governor said a week ago that he had narrowed his choices to Nye and Joseph Alexander, 53, St. Paul, a DNR assistant commissioner for administration.

Nye, 43, currently is executive vice president of the Ohio Homebuilders Association in Columbus. He will take the Minnesota post July 1.

He is a former Ohio state legislator, serving in the House from 1965 to 1967 and in the state Senate from 1967 to 1971, when he was appointed director of the Natural Resources Department.

a writing desk, and a radio with earphones.

Walburga had Otto in the attic 19 years. One night the neighbors heard shots and a scream. Fred was dead. Walburga was locked in a closet with the key outside the door. The wife sobbed for her husband. They had caught a male intruder, she said. He killed her Fred.

The only thing missing was Fred's diamond watch. The police searched for an intruder and a gun. A year later, Walburga gave her lawyer a diamond watch. It was too much for Otto. He fell out of the attic.

Both were tried for murder, but weren't punished. Otto said he shot Fred out of "nervousness." The moral of the story is buy the wife a new sewing machine whether she wants it or not...

Evidence Of Cartel 'Massive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House unit investigating an international uranium price-setting cartel says there is "massive evidence" that Gulf Oil Corp. violated antitrust laws by taking part.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., says he thinks many other members of the subcommittee "would be inclined to share my views."

Gulf officials admit participating in the cartel through the company's Canadian subsidiary, but say the arrangement violated no U.S. laws.

They claim the cartel's actions had little or no effect on U.S. uranium markets and they assert Gulf was compelled to participate by the Canadian government.

Canadian officials maintain the cartel was established after the U.S. government stopped all imports of uranium and then helped American companies attempt to take over the rest of the world market.

They also say American actions were forcing down the price of uranium.

Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie said his government acted to save Canadian industries and to prevent loss of jobs.

The once-secret cartel of Canadian, South African, French and Australian uranium producers allegedly helped drive up world uranium prices from $5 to more than $40 a pound.

Ending two days of congressional hearings, Moss said Friday he feels price-fixing by the group did affect U.S. uranium prices. "I would have to be exceedingly naive to assume that it did not," he said.

Grants For Indian Studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Endowment for the Humanities made several grants to Native American-related projects in 1976.

The University of Eastern New Mexico received a major grant to study Chacoan society, a forerunner of the present day Pueblo group which reached its climax in the 11th century.

Two universities were given grants to study Indian languages: Mary College, Bismarck, N.D., to produce material for teaching Akikara, Mandan, Hidatsa and Sioux, and the University of Arizona, Tucson, to expand its program in Native American languages and linguistics.

The University of Utah received aid to train graduate students in American Indian history. The Indian Pueblo Cultural Center, Albuquerque, N.M., received a grant to develop an exhibit focusing on the heritage and culture of the New Mexico Indian Pueblos.

Amin Disappears After Alleged Slaying Attempt

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Idi Amin of Uganda is missing after an attempt to assassinate him during the weekend, one of Kenya's leading newspapers reported today.

Government officials in Kampala, the capital of neighboring Uganda, said by telephone that as far as they knew the report was inaccurate. But an unidentified Ugandan who answered the telephone at Amin's residence at Entebbe, 19 miles southwest of Kampala, said: "We don't know where he is or what has happened to him."

Radio Uganda reported that Amin might attend a "refugee day" celebration in western Uganda today.

Sunny Skies To Cover State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here is the agriculture weather advisory for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

High pressure is expected to dominate the Ohio weather scene after a weak low pressure system moves across the state today and tonight. Warm and humid conditions will continue today. Then the high will produce temperatures a few degrees below normal with less humid conditions through Wednesday. Warmer temperatures are expected to occur by Thursday and Friday.

Field Operations — Brief delays may occur in isolated spots today, but then no delays are expected through Friday. Working conditions will be comfortable Tuesday through Thursday and drying rates will be moderate to fast for the period. As cooler and drier air moves across the state, evaporation rates across Ohio will range around 0.22 to 0.28 inch per day.

Haying and Harvesting — Haymaking will be good this week. Showers that could occur today will be light and very isolated, so cutting can begin without any great risk of wetting. Harvesting conditions will be good Tuesday through Friday. Hay should cure in three days or less and moisture reduction in any southern Ohio wheat that is near harvesting moisture will be around 0.7 to 0.8 percent per day through Friday.

Spraying — Morning and evening will be good summer spraying periods this week. Winds will be light from evening through mid-morning. Daytime winds will be up to 20 miles per hour today and tonight. A period of light evening and morning winds begins Tuesday evening and continues through at least Thursday.

Oklahoma Town Outpaces Frisco

BRAY, Okla. (AP) — With a half dozen downtown buildings, two churches and a population of 650, Bray, Okla., is now larger than San Francisco and Boston.

Fearful of land hungry neighboring communities, residents voted 79-8 last week to incorporate 42,240 acres — 66 square miles — of surrounding lands into the municipality.

Bray has no police department, fire department, water system or any municipal services. Folks aren't even sure how they're going to govern the newly acquired domain that includes hardwood forests dotted with oil rigs in southwestern Oklahoma.

"The Betrothed," written by Alessandro Manzoni (1785-1873), is considered by many to be the greatest of Italian novels.

Scioto Bottling Contributes To College Fund

Checks totaling $2,045,668 have been sent to the 34 colleges which are members of the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges. This is the largest amount ever distributed by the Foundation. Voluntary contributions from the profits of business and industrial firms provide these funds which the Foundation distributes annually.

During May, the final month of the 1976-77 fiscal year, a contribution was received from the Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Circleville.

While the $2,045,668 exceeds last year's total by only $714, the amount raised from regular contributions was $135,000 more than the previous year. A gift of $142,574 from the George and May Margaret Angell Estate of Cleveland was received in 1975-76 and the balance of $16,533 from the same estate in 1976-77. This brings the total amount distributed over the last 26 years to almost 33 million dollars. The number of contributions was increased from 1701 to 1754 for 1976-77.

Dr. Carl C. Bracy, president of OFIC commented that, "The corporate community believes in the value and worth of Ohio's independent colleges. These gifts in a difficult economic year indicate just how much business and industrial leaders believe in these colleges and universities. Amounts distributed to individual colleges ranged from $41,441 to $134,865 based on a formula adopted by these institutions. The college presidents have assured me that these unrestricted funds will be most helpful in balancing their operating budgets this year."

One president on receiving his share said, "This is certainly a tribute to the achievements resulting from the application of the OFIC 'idea' and represents a most significant contribution to our on-going program!"

COME ALIVE SINGERS — The 1977 Come Alive Singers are coming to Northridge Church of Christ on Thursday, June 23. This 23-member musical ensemble will be featured in a 1½-hour program beginning at 7:30 p.m. Developed and trained by the Cincinnati Bible College in Cincinnati, Ohio, the Come Alive Singers' program is always a unique experience of sight and sound. This group of multi-talented students comes from all across the nation.

Family Disruption Eyed By Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says changing social values and the greater mobility of people have contributed to the disruption of the American family and that government action is sometimes an obstacle to holding families together.

"Welfare laws quite often benefit handsomely the divided family," Carter said in an exclusive Father's Day interview with The Associated Press. "If the husband works fulltime at the minimum wage, he makes a certain income for his wife and children."

"But if he leaves home or pretends to leave home and continues to work, and his family draws welfare payments, their standards of living can be greatly enhanced. This is a divisive force that the government artificially imposes into the family system."

Carter said he didn't think it would cost more money to change existing welfare laws so families do not have to break up to collect benefits.

Among other highlights of the interview:

—Carter said he wants to give working married couples the same tax benefits available to unmarried working people who live together.

—He approves of mothers working when they have small children.

—He supports school programs that allow students to take special courses after regular school hours, because they benefit both the child and the working parents. His daughter, Amy, is enrolled in such a program and takes computer programming, Spanish and photography.

—He has personally counseled White House employees with marriage problems and encouraged others who were living together to marry.

—He does not consider homosexuality a normal sexual relationship, but does not consider it a threat to family life or a substitute for it.

The next solar eclipse visible in the United States will occur Feb. 26, 1979. It will be visible in the Northern U.S. and Canada.

Flash Flood Threat Grows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms have increased the threat of flash flooding in eastern Kansas, where a flash flood watch remains in effect.

Heavy thunderstorms also were over the Western Plains from eastern Colorado into the Texas Panhandle and from Kentucky and Tennessee into Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

Tornadoes were sighted six miles west of Eaton, Colo., and 25 miles southwest of Saint Simons Island, Ga. Golfball to baseball size hail damaged cars at Castle Rock, Colo.

The national weather forecast for Monday: Scattered showers and thunderstorms will extend from the south half of the Atlantic Coast states across the lower Mississippi valley, and from northern New England across northern New York and upper Michigan. Thundershowers also will reach from the Central Plains across the northern Rockies to the Pacific Northwest. The rest of the nation will be dry and sunny. There will be little change in temperatures.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Monday June 20, 1977

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mockingbird Sings Away The Blues

DEAR ABBY: DESPERATE wrote that his recently deceased wife had so loved the song of the mocking bird that sang in their yard each morning that she made a recording of it. He said the same bird returns to sing each day, and his song brings back such painful memories that he feels he must either destroy that bird or go mad.

Perhaps we are neighbors. A mockingbird has been singing in my area, too. My husband, who died last year, loved the song of that bird, but it neither pains nor depresses me to hear. Instead it gives me a feeling of inner peace, comfort and joy-as though God were telling me that my dear one is still nearby.

"E"

DEAR ABBY: DESPERATE who wishes to shoo away the mocking bird that perches on his wire:

Buy a rubber snake in a toy department and twist it around the wire. We use them in our fruit trees to keep the birds from pecking at the fruit. (I'm told that a long nylon stocking waiving in the breeze is just as effective.)

OCEANSIDE

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the man who wanted to get rid of the mockingbird because it was bringing back sad memories of his deceased wife, I think I have the solution. He mentioned that his wife had recorded the bird's song. If he will play the recording back to the bird while it's singing, the bird will think it is another male intruding in his territory, and after a few unsuccessful attempts to locate his competition, he will leave and never return. It works.

TRIED IT IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: Please tell DESPERATE that the pain he feels is within himself, not from the bird, and killing the bird or chasing it away will not ease the pain. The mockingbird's song could help relieve his pain if he would only view it differently.

The song of the mockingbird is a gift that his dear departed wife has left him since she still lives in his heart. He should enjoy the memory of how much his wife loved that early morning music while the rest of the world was quiet.

A.W.M.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell DESPERATE I had a similar experience. A pair of cardinals made their nest under our window. My husband and I watched and worried over them together. Then I too lost my husband. After the cardinals left the nest, I had the shrub cut down because I couldn't bare to hear their song.

That was last year. This year they've returned and made their nest nearby. Although tears are on my cheeks now as I write this, I love to hear those cardinals sing because they bring back so many fond memories. Faith in God and time helps us.

H.M.

DEAR ABBY: If a mockingbird sings loud and rapturously for hours on end, it means he has not yet attracted a mate. When he finally wins a mate, he will quiet down to a bit of occasional warbling.

If the mockingbird is removed from the territory he has established on his own, another male will quickly move in to take his place. A scarecrow will have no effect whatever.

S. A. GRIMES, JACKSONVILLE

DEAR ABBY: After moving into a new home three years ago, a mockingbird set up court in my apple tree. I say "court" because he sang 26 different songs all night long. I just squirted him and when he decided he had enough baths, he moved to a new territory.

High Court Decisions Political?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court probably will decide soon whether there will be a voter referendum on a controversial bill allowing election day registration of voters.

Will the court's decision be political?

The same question always is asked when a partisan dispute heads into the theoretically nonpartisan tribunal — but it never gets an answer. Not for the record, at least.

Majority Democrats in the legislature, whose party now controls the court 4-3, enacted the so-called "instant registration bill" over solid GOP opposition and the veto of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

With some legal maneuvers by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, a Republican, the bill was divided in such a way that its major provisions were made subject to a voter referendum. This, the Democrats didn't intend. Brown, who routinely assigns the effective dates to bills, split off a portion that made an appropriation. Appropriations bills take immediate effect, and are not subject to the referendum process.

He gave the appropriation section an immediately effective date, as required by law, but assigned a date 90 days later, also required by law for nonemergency measures, for the bill's operative provisions.

Thus, the meat of the bill — including instant registration and other relaxation of present registration requirements — became subject to referendum.

Democrats claim Brown acted for partisan reasons and also illegally. They went to the court last week and asked it to nullify Brown's action.

Some decisions of the court in the past, while under GOP control, raised questions among Democrats as to whether there were political considerations. The court always cites statutory reasons for its rulings, but every lawyer knows an interpretation of a statute can go more than one way. A decision by the court is final, unless U.S. constitutional issues are raised. None are likely to be in the pending case.

A couple of decisions by the previously Republican court are called to mind by Democrats.

The biggest, in 1973, interpreted Ohio's two-term limitation on governors in such a way as to allow GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes to come out of political "retirement" and win a third term.

Ruling against what some veteran lawmakers said was their intention in voting for the limit, the court said a governor could run again after two terms if he sat out a term after the first two.

In 1975, after the so-called "Six Day

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Monday June 20, 1977

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mockingbird Sings Away The Blues

DEAR ABBY: DESPERATE wrote that his recently deceased wife had so loved the song of the mocking bird that sang in their yard each morning that she made a recording of it. He said the same bird returns to sing each day, and his song brings back such painful memories that he feels he must either destroy that bird or go mad.

Perhaps we are neighbors. A mockingbird has been singing in my area, too. My husband, who died last year, loved the song of that bird, but it neither pains nor depresses me to hear. Instead it gives me a feeling of inner peace, comfort and joy as though God were telling me that my dear one is still nearby.

"E"

DEAR ABBY: DESPERATE who wishes to shoo away the mocking bird that perches on his wire:

Buy a rubber snake in a toy department and twist it around the wire. We use them in our fruit trees to keep the birds from pecking at the fruit. (I'm told that a long nylon stocking waiving in the breeze is just as effective.)

OCEANSIDE

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the man who wanted to get rid of the mockingbird because it was bringing back sad memories of his deceased wife, I think I have the solution. He mentioned that his wife had recorded the bird's song. If he will play the recording back to the bird while it's singing, the bird will think it is another male intruding in his territory, and after a few unsuccessful attempts to locate his competition, he will leave and never return. It works.

TRIED IT IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: Please tell DESPERATE that the pain he feels is within himself, not from the bird, and killing the bird or chasing it away will not ease the pain. The mockingbird's song could help relieve his pain if he would only view it differently.

The song of the mockingbird is a gift that his dear departed wife has left him since she still lives in his heart. He should enjoy the memory of how much his wife loved that early morning music while the rest of the world was quiet.

A.W.M.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell DESPERATE I had a similar experience. A pair of cardinals made their nest under our window. My husband and I watched and worried over them together. Then I too lost my husband. After the cardinals left the nest, I had the shrub cut down because I couldn't bare to hear their song.

That was last year. This year they've returned and made their nest nearby. Although tears are on my cheeks now as I write this, I love to hear those cardinals sing because they bring back so many fond memories. Faith in God and time helps us.

H.M.

DEAR ABBY: If a mockingbird sings loud and rapturously for hours on end, it means he has not yet attracted a mate. When he finally wins a mate, he will quiet down to a bit of occasional warbling.

If the mockingbird is removed from the territory he has established on his own, another male will quickly move in to take his place. A scarecrow will have no effect whatever.

S. A. GRIMES, JACKSONVILLE

DEAR ABBY: After moving into a new home three years ago, a mockingbird set up court in my apple tree. I say "court" because he sang 26 different songs all night long. I just squirted him and when he decided he had enough baths, he moved to a new territory.

Columbus Girl New Miss Ohio

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Susan Yvonne Perkins says one of the goals of her reign as Miss Ohio of 1978 will be to educate young people about the pageant by speaking on college campuses.

"I think there is an antipageant sentiment because people don't understand what it is," the 23-year-old brunette from Columbus said. Misconceptions, she said, include one that "judging is based on how your body looks in a swimsuit."

Miss Perkins said she "felt terrific" after winning the Miss Ohio crown Saturday night—on her second attempt. She was a runnerup last year.

She said she is looking forward to competing in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J., in the fall.

The 5-foot-5, 112-pound woman was entered in the pageant as Miss Clayland.

Sher Lynette Patrick, 18, of Centerville, Miss Southwestern Ohio, was the first runnerup. She will serve as an alternate in the event Miss Perkins cannot fulfill the obligations of the title.

Other runnersup were Susan Marie Swies, Miss Ohio State University; Judith Ann Brown, Miss Greater Cleveland; and Joan Patrick Gilger, Miss Bowling Green State University.

The winner, a 1976 graduate of Miami University and a legislative intern for the Ohio Senate, had won both the talent and swimsuit competitions in the preliminary judging earlier in the week. She sang a rendition of "Good Morning Heartache."

Arson-Caused Fire Damages Courthouse

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The fire that heavily damaged the historic Brown County Courthouse Saturday nearly destroyed two years of work by a citizen's renovation group, but the group's leader says they're ready to start over.

"Everybody felt initially that a lot of dreams went up in smoke," said Judy Ruthven of the fire, believed to be arson-caused.

But Mrs. Ruthven said the Georgetown Restoration Group, which she and her husband John cochair, had an architect "who specializes in restoration" examine the courthouse, which was built in 1849 and first occupied in 1851.

"He said the building was still remarkably stable, and we're all privately hoping we can restore it," Mrs. Ruthven said.

Governor Signs Trio Of Measures

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills signed into law last week by Gov. James A. Rhodes:

—Authorizes nonattorneys to represent state employees before Personnel Board of Review and makes other changes to speed up job classification appeals hearings. Signed June 16, effective immediately.

—Permits a single question to be submitted to voters at local option liquor elections. Signed June 16, effective Sept. 16.

—Renames Interstate 80 across northern Ohio "Christopher Columbus Highway." Signed June 16, effective Sept. 16.

The original restoration project began in 1975 and was completed last month, she said. The courthouse and surrounding buildings are listed in the National Registry of Historic Places. "The courthouse was a fine example of the Greek Revival style of architecture. It was highly touted among courthouse buffs," she said.

Though noting any potential restoration efforts are "subject to the approval of town officials," Mrs. Ruthven said, "We're hoping this will unite the community and we'll have a rededication of restoration efforts."

A state arson squad officer at the scene Saturday said the blaze may have been caused by an incendiary device thrown into a second-story window, while Georgetown Police Chief Donald McElroy said, "There is a 100 per cent chance of arson."

Most of the county documents stored in second-floor offices were saved by Georgetown residents, who formed a human chain during the fire.

The county vocational school will be used temporarily for courthouse functions.

Auto Price Hike Plans Attacked

DETROIT (AP) — The new president of the United Auto Workers says a possible 6 per cent price hike on new cars this fall is "completely inexcusable and shameful."

"When you think of the whole industry's profits last year (a record $4.3 billion) and when figures in the first quarter look like they will exceed the profits of 1976, I don't know how you justify any price increase," Douglas A. Fraser said at a news conference Friday.

General Motors, the No. 1 maker and industry pricing leader, said Wednesday that prices on 1978 models could go up by as much as 6 per cent — more than $370 above the price of an average 1977 model. GM said the maximum six per cent rise was not an official price but a guide for dealers who take early orders from fleet buyers before new cars go into production.

Auto industry executives previously have said prices will be going up this fall because of higher costs for labor and material.

The government has estimated that three-year contracts negotiated between the UAW and industry last fall will boost company labor costs 34 per cent, or $3.74 an hour, over the life of the pacts.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability also reported that wage settlements alone — excluding fringe benefits — will add $300 to the price of a new car by the fall of 1979.

The UAW has argued that prices don't have to go up despite higher labor costs because of improved worker productivity — increased output per manhour.

Auto Price Hike Plans Attacked

DETROIT (AP) — The new president of the United Auto Workers says a possible 6 per cent price hike on new cars this fall is "completely inexcusable and shameful."

"When you think of the whole industry's profits last year (a record $4.3 billion) and when figures in the first quarter look like they will exceed the profits of 1976, I don't know how you justify any price increase," Douglas A. Fraser said at a news conference Friday.

General Motors, the No. 1 maker and industry pricing leader, said Wednesday that prices on 1978 models could go up by as much as 6 per cent — more than $370 above the price of an average 1977 model.

GM said the maximum six per cent rise was not an official price but a guide for dealers who take early orders from fleet buyers before new cars go into production.

Auto industry executives previously have said prices will be going up this fall because of higher costs for labor and material.

The government has estimated that three-year contracts negotiated between the UAW and industry last fall will boost company labor costs 34 per cent, or $3.74 an hour, over the life of the pacts.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability also reported that wage settlements alone — excluding fringe benefits — will add $300 to the price of a new car by the fall of 1979.

The UAW has argued that prices don't have to go up despite higher labor costs because of improved worker productivity — increased output per manhour.

Over 125 Scouts Attend Day Camp

ARCHERY — Archery was just one of the many fun activities at this year Cub Scout Day Camp at Deer Creek State Park. The camp was held June 15, 16, 17 for Cub Scouts in the Pickaway and Paint Creek Valley districts.

PITCH TENT — Gilbert Wamsley shows Cub Scouts the proper method of pitching a tent. All the boys were given an opportunity to pitch tents themselves.

FIRST AID — Wes Barton explains first aid procedures and shows the contents of a first aid kit to a group of Cub Scouts at Day Camp, where 125 boys learned simple first aid techniques.

Over 125 Cub Scouts participated in this years Adventure Day Camp held at Deer Creek State Park on June 15, 16, 17.

The Cub Scouts came from Pickaway, Fayette, and Madison Counties. The popularity of Cub Day Camp is growing tremendously each year. This years camp was the largest ever held in this area.

The program at camp was filled with fun activities such as archery, nature study, first aid training, knot tying, field sports, tent pitching, fishing, and swimming. Each of the Cub Scouts had the opportunity to participate in each one of these skill areas during camp.

Special presentations and demonstrations were also put on by guests.

Ray Taylor, of the Soil Conservation Service, demonstrated how the Cubs could help conserve the soil and water resources of the Deer Creek area.

A film and presentation by Basil Green, project supervisor for the Army Corps of Engineers at Deer Creek, on the human waste water treatment project also proved to be very interesting and informative.

Several members of a Senior Girl Scout troop specializing in first aid and rescue operations also gave demonstrations.

The rest of the camp staff consisted of older scouts and adult leaders who all volunteered their time to make the camp the success that it was. Several of the staff members even took time off from their jobs to help out.

The Cub Scouts and leaders cooked out on Friday. The Cubs were divided into tribes and each tribe picked their own Indian tribe name. The tribes went to all their activities together and ate together with their adult or Scout chief.

Their were skits and songs put on by the Cub Scouts. Some tribes even made up their own cheers. One enterprising tribe gave their own version of a rain dance but they failed to bring any rain! The weather remained beautiful all three days.

The Cub Scouts at this years camp represented twelve different Cub Scout Packs in the area.

Camp Director Pat Higgins expressed his thanks to all the great volunteer staff members. Higgins said, "Without their help and enthusiasm this camp would have never taken place. Everyone pitched in and did their share. That's what Cub Scouting is all about; family involvement. I just can't thank them enough."

The human brain weighs about three pounds and contains an estimated ten billion nerve cells.

Skiing On Grass No Illusion

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If you see someone with ski poles schussing 60 miles an hour down a grassy mountainside this summer, don't be concerned. Your eyes don't need checking.

It might be Francois Reizine, a French-born engineer who can't keep off the slopes — even if it is too warm for snow. He simply trades his skis for wheels.

Reizine, once a member of the French Ski Team and head coach of the Western Pennsylvania Racing Team, hits the slopes with the same gusto in summer as in winter.

Reizine uses European built grass skis. One type, the German made Rollka, is a short ski with caterpillar treads. The other, the French made Skirou, is a short ski with two inflated balloon tires.

Reizine says the Rollka gives the skier a more realistic edging action but the Skirou has the bounce of a real ski and goes faster. The Rollka is capable of going 35 to 50 miles an hour and Reizine says he often hits 60 m.p.h. on the tire-skis.

Both types of skis are designed for use on a variety of grass surfaces. "Any grass-covered slope, a gentle smooth slope or one with undulating hills and valleys, is ideal," Reizine says.

Reizine says he was introduced to the grass skis about six years ago in France. He claims the sport has thousands of followers in Europe, particularly among professional racers.

"People just don't think they can go skiing in the summer," Reizine says. "But they have exactly the same edging effect as skis."

"You carve a turn just like a good pair of skis. If you want to learn, you won't be distracted by sideways movement. It's very good for racers. You can practice hot-dogging and ballet because the skis are short."

Reizine says he doesn't expect grass skiing to enjoy great popularity with Americans.

"There will be interest from serious skiers and those who are sports-minded and excited by something new. People who want to sit in a chair or drink in a bar won't like it," he says.

But Reizine says the beginning snow skier can get into shape for the winter season with the grass skis. "Often beginning skiers are overwhelmed with the cold weather, the skis skidding sideways and continuously falling on hard, wet snow," he says. "They quickly trade in their skis for a couple of drinks by the fire."

But to Reizine, a hill is a ski slope even in the summer. "To ski down a slope in summer in schuss or gentle curves is a beautiful feeling."

Over 125 Scouts Attend Day Camp

ARCHERY — Archery was just one of the many fun activities at this year Cub Scout Day Camp at Deer Creek State Park. The camp was held June 15, 16, 17 for Cub Scouts in the Pickaway and Paint Creek Valley districts.

PITCH TENT — Gilbert Wamsley shows Cub Scouts the proper method of pitching a tent. All the boys were given an opportunity to pitch tents themselves.

FIRST AID — Wes Barton explains first aid procedures and shows the contents of a first aid kit to a group of Cub Scouts at Day Camp, where 125 boys learned simple first aid techniques.

Over 125 Cub Scouts participated in this years Adventure Day Camp held at Deer Creek State Park on June 15, 16, 17.

The Cub Scouts came from Pickaway, Fayette, and Madison Counties. The popularity of Cub Day Camp is growing tremendously each year. This years camp was the largest ever held in this area.

The program at camp was filled with fun activities such as archery, nature study, first aid training, knot tying, field sports, tent pitching, fishing, and swimming. Each of the Cub Scouts had the opportunity to participate in each one of these skill areas during camp.

Special presentations and demonstrations were also put on by guests. Ray Taylor, of the Soil Conservation Service, demonstrated how the Cubs could help conserve the soil and water resources of the Deer Creek area.

A film and presentation by Basil Green, project supervisor for the Army Corps of Engineers at Deer Creek, on the human waste water treatment project also proved to be very interesting and informative.

Several members of a Senior Girl Scout troop specializing in first aid and rescue operations also gave demonstrations.

The rest of the camp staff consisted of older scouts and adult leaders who all volunteered their time to make the camp the success that it was. Several of the staff members even took time off from their jobs to help out.

The Cub Scouts and leaders cooked out on Friday. The Cubs were divided into tribes and each tribe picked their own Indian tribe name. The tribes went to all their activities together and ate together with their adult or Scout chief.

Their were skits and songs put on by the Cub Scouts. Some tribes even made up their own cheers. One enterprising tribe gave their own version of a rain dance but they failed to bring any rain! The weather remained beautiful all three days.

The Cub Scouts at this years camp represented twelve different Cub Scout Packs in the area.

Camp Director Pat Higgins expressed his thanks to all the great volunteer staff members. Higgins said, "Without their help and enthusiasm this camp would have never taken place. Everyone pitched in and did their share. That's what Cub Scouting is all about; family involvement. I just can't thank them enough."

Skiing On Grass No Illusion

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If you see someone with ski poles schussing 60 miles an hour down a grassy mountainside this summer, don't be concerned. Your eyes don't need checking.

It might be Francois Reizine, a French-born engineer who can't keep off the slopes — even if it is too warm for snow. He simply trades his skis for wheels.

Reizine, once a member of the French Ski Team and head coach of the Western Pennsylvania Racing Team, hits the slopes with the same gusto in summer as in winter.

Reizine uses European built grass skis. One type, the German made Rollka, is a short ski with caterpillar treads. The other, the French made Skirou, is a short ski with two inflated balloon tires.

Reizine says the Rollka gives the skier a more realistic edging action but the Skirou has the bounce of a real ski and goes faster. The Rollka is capable of going 35 to 50 miles an hour and Reizine says he often hits 60 m.p.h. on the tire-skis.

Both types of skis are designed for use on a variety of grass surfaces. "Any grass-covered slope, a gentle smooth slope or one with undulating hills and valleys, is ideal," Reizine says.

Reizine says he was introduced to the grass skis about six years ago in France. He claims the sport has thousands of followers in Europe, particularly among professional racers.

"People just don't think they can go skiing in the summer," Reizine says. "But they have exactly the same edging effect as skis."

"You carve a turn just like a good pair of skis. If you want to learn, you won't be distracted by sideways movement. It's very good for racers. You can practice hot-dogging and ballet because the skis are short."

Reizine says he doesn't expect grass skiing to enjoy great popularity with Americans.

"There will be interest from serious skiers and those who are sports-minded and excited by something new. People who want to sit in a chair or drink in a bar won't like it," he says.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

President Carter's amnesty and military discharge review programs have opened such a Pandora's Box that it is possible—even likely—that one who deserted years ago and only recently returned to his unit, could be attending school using veterans' benefits next month.

That is, unless Congress acts to undo the mischief created by the President's proposal to upgrade the less-than-honorable discharges of former service members of the Vietnam War era.

Legislative efforts to block a massive giveaway of veterans' benefits to thousands of underserving recipients are already underway.

I have, this week, joined in sponsoring a bill that would deny automatic veterans' benefits to those individuals who receive upgraded military discharges under the reduced standards of the Carter special review program.

The automatic upgrading of less than honorable discharges is an insult to those veterans who served honorably. Their response has been one of shock and outrage—and understandably so.

If President Carter proposes by his action to heal the wounds of Vietnam, he has certainly missed the mark. As Disabled American Veterans Commander Frank J. Randazzo put it, "Just whose wounds are being 'healed' and whose wounds are being 'rubbed with salt' by President Carter's preoccupation with the welfare of Vietnam-era draft evaders, military deserters, and holders of less than honorable discharges?"

That deserter who may well be attending school using VA benefits next month will be enjoying the benefits that his military counterparts earned through discipline and sacrifice.

Worse yet, those veterans who were honorably discharged will, through their taxes, be paying for the education and perhaps hospitalization of deserters and nonperformers.

The legislation which I am co-sponsoring will still allow those interested to petition the Veterans Administration for an individual review of their case—but under the traditional standards. Only those with a meritorious case would be able to qualify for benefits.

The military discharge system has been a fair one, and it would be grossly unfair and unjust to extend veterans' entitlements to thousands who would not be eligible for them under the standards that millions of others have been, and have met.

My legislation merely says that all veterans must meet the same standards.

Aside from the Carter program's inequities, the cost of relaxing standards for upgrading discharges will be enormous. Under the revised review program, more than 435,000 former service members will be eligible to apply to the Review Board to upgrade an undesirable or general discharge.

The Veterans Administration has estimated the cost of readjustment, compensation and pension benefits for each additional 100,000 veterans in Fiscal Year 1978 at $112 million and medical care costs at $21 million. The total cost estimate per additional 100,000 veterans for fiscal years 1979-82 would amount to $418 million.

The expenditure of millions of taxpayers' dollars on underserving individuals strains the meaning of compassion. Or as Commander Randazzo expressed it, "Compassion is a noble sentiment, but it should not be lavished in a capricious, unjust fashion."

As in the case of President Carter's incredible blanket amnesty for draft dodgers, we would be encouraging more of the same in future emergencies by giving the potential evaders and deserters the expectation that they would eventually receive compassionate consideration.

A special select committee of the House Veterans Affairs Committee will shortly hold hearings on the President's discharge upgrading program. And well it should. Considerable opposition is developing in Congress to the Carter proposals.

Reduced standards make a mockery of the honorable discharge, and we owe it to those who hold such discharges to see that this injustice goes no further.

Space Shuttle Test Successful

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Space Shuttle "Enterprise" was a good passenger, say NASA officials, and the delta-winged craft may soon break loose from "mother."

The shuttle completed its first manned flight Saturday, a 54-minute piggyback trip atop a jumbo jet.

When the spacecraft and its mother ship returned to the runway at the desert test site, veteran astronaut Donald "Deke" Slayton, director of current shuttle testing, said the Enterprise should begin ferrying men and material into space by 1980.

The next manned test flight is scheduled for June 28, and the first free flights could be as early as July 27, Slayton said.

"We're all looking forward to the day in about a month or so when we will cut loose and be able to fly on its own," said the shuttle's pilot, Air Force Lt. Col. Gordon Fullerton, after Saturday's flight.

"They're good passengers," Fitzhugh Fulton Jr., pilot of the modified Boeing 747, said of the shuttle and its two-man crew. "But we'd like to get to the point where we don't have to bring them back."

Saturday's flight was designed to test the craft's control and guidance systems and power units. It was the first in a series of four manned flights in which the shuttle will remain attached to the 747.

After a 24-hour delay caused by computer failure, the flight started smoothly and was almost problem-free.

"All the systems worked very well ... we accomplished all the things just as we set out to do," said the shuttle commander, civilian Fred Haise Jr., 43, an 11-year member of the astronaut corps.

In the free flights, the shuttle craft will be carried aloft by the 747, and then cut free by explosive bolts to glide to an unpowered landing on a dry lakebed.

If those tests go well, Slayton said, the first shuttle could be launched into orbit in March 1979 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., with operational shuttle missions beginning the next year.

The shuttle, the size of a DC9, is designed to carry astronauts and supplies into orbit for such jobs as building space stations, launching satellites and conducting experiments which would be impossible on earth.

Unlike previous space vehicles, the shuttle is designed to be used up to 100 times and will land like an airplane at selected airfields in California and Florida.

Speakman Realty has become the latest member of ERA, a growing nation-wide network of residential realtors offering an electronic photo listing service to their clients, according to Jane S. Stewart, president of the local realty firm at 129½ W. Main St.

ERA stands for Electronic Realty Associates, the parent organization located in Shawnee Mission, Kansas, which originated and developed the new listing concept.

As a member of the ERA network, Jane S. Stewart is now linked to ERA plus ERA members across the country by direct wire. Special electronic equipment in the office of each member can transmit a photo and pertinent information of any listing to any other ERA member in the country.

"The ERA system marks a real breakthrough in the real estate field," commented Jane S. Stewart. The real value of this service is that, for the first time, it will enable people living in one part of the country to see homes available for sale in any city they plan to move to."

Delegates Chosen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Buckeye Girls State Gov. Michelle Dorsett of Whitehall and Julie Dittman of Huron will represent Ohio at Girls Nation in Washington July 9-16.

Election of the two was announced Saturday night at the final Girls State assembly at Capital University. Named as alternates were Ellen Sue Frauenthal of South Euclid and Chloe Ann Beal of Oak Harbor.

Miss Dorsett defeated Miss Dittman to head the mock government at this year's Girls State.

Speakman Realty has become the latest member of ERA, a growing nation-wide network of residential realtors offering an electronic photo listing service to their clients, according to Jane S. Stewart, president of the local realty firm at 129½ W. Main St.

ERA stands for Electronic Realty Associates, the parent organization located in Shawnee Mission, Kansas, which originated and developed the new listing concept.

As a member of the ERA network, Jane S. Stewart is now linked to ERA plus ERA members across the country by direct Wire. Special electronic equipment in the office of each member can transmit a photo and pertinent information of any listing to any other ERA member in the country.

"The ERA system marks a real breakthrough in the real estate field," commented Jane S. Stewart. The real value of this service is that, for the first time, it will enable people living in one part of the country to see homes available for sale in any city they plan to move to."

Twitchell, Expos Rip Reds

MONTREAL (AP) — Wayne Twitchell's first start with his new baseball club received none of the overblown fanfare that accompanied Tom Seaver's debut with Cincinnati Reds.

But Twitchell, acquired by the Montreal Expos from Philadelphia Phillies in a four-player trade last week, did something Sunday he had not been able to do while playing for the Phillies—he beat Cincinnati.

The 6-foot-6 right-hander gave up seven hits in five innings and got hitless relief from Don Stanhouse as well as some offensive punch as the Expos ended Cincinnati's winning streak at seven games with an 8-4 National League victory.

On Saturday, the Reds downed the Expos 6-0 as Seaver, making his first start for the Reds since a four-for-one swap with New York Mets last week, limited Montreal to three hits.

Seaver's debut with the Reds was treated like the second coming, but Twitchell's scheduled effort went virtually unnoticed.

"I was a little bit shocked about the trade," Twitchell admitted. "I had been there for six years. You get to know a lot of people and you get settled in. It was five o'clock in the morning Thursday when the phone rang, and I knew what it was for."

"I had never beaten that (Cincinnati) ball club before. I have pitched some very good ball games against them. There were three or four times I pitched against them and allowed two runs in seven or eight innings. Against that ball club, I figure that's a very strong outing."

Twitchell had been 0-7 lifetime against the Reds and 0-5 for the season with a 4.50 earned-run average.

He had not started a game for more than a month but said his arm felt fine and that he was pleased with some of his pitches, despite not having worked much in recent weeks.

The Expos broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, getting home runs by Gary Carter and Andre Dawson and a three-run homer by Ellis Valentine.

The Reds came back with two runs in the fifth and another in the ninth but could not avoid their second loss in six games against Montreal this year.

Former Expos left-hander Woodie Fryman was charged with his fifth loss in seven decisions, but Fryman, who had been in the bullpen in recent weeks, said he has been told he will remain in the Reds' starting rotation.

"They hit me hard," Fryman said. "I pitched well in the first three innings and then made a couple of mistakes and they capitalized on them. The Expos have enough good hitters in their lineup to be able to take advantage of a mistake by a pitcher."

Jackie Brown, 4-4, pitches for Montreal tonight in the opener of a three-game series against Houston Astros, who will send J.R. Richard, 5-6, to the mound.

Fred Norman, 7-2, opens Cincinnati's three game visit at Philadelphia tonight. Jim Kaat, 1-5, will start for the Phils.

Scioto Downs In Midst Of Big Season

Scioto Downs, in the midst of a record shattering season at the turnstiles and on the race track, has pinpointed the reason for it's success this year.

Track President, Charles D. Hill, states "the reason is very simple. We have the finest racing stock campaigning at Scioto Downs this year, than at any time in our nineteen year history. The race track is in superb condition and since opening night on May 6th, 187 horses have taken new lifetime marks over the sizzling five eights mile oval."

On Wednesday, June 15, O.K. Mac, a 3 year-old son of the premier Ohio pacing sire, Good Show, posted the 200th two minute mile at Scioto Downs with the nine length victory in 1:59.25.

Fourteen Pickaway County area harness horse owners are campaigning at Scioto Downs this year. They are:

Donna Jean Anderson with Sass, Drizzle (2:03), Circle;

Harry Margulis with Carriage Trace (2:02 1-5), Foressee Pride (2:02 2-5), Ima Speedy Lady;

Ralph Stir Jr. and Margarita Shelton, Honest Sunny; Linda Van Camp, Inner Circle (2:03 3-5); George E. Stump, Tag On and George Tag;

Lawrence Bentley, B D Keystone; Robert O. Callihan, Chita B; Harold Nagel and Roger McConnell, Dixie Berry; Mary Hill, Mar Lo Time;

Robert Caudill, Atta Boy Miracle; C. W. Cromley, Baron Attorney; Porter Martin, Circle Kim and Circle Koll;

Frank Moats, Little Jer; Marvin Hill, Mar Lo Hill.

Racing continues at Scioto Downs, nightly (except Sunday) through Sept. 13th with Post Time at 7:45 p.m. On Monday, July 4th and Monday, Sept. 5th, post time will be 2:00 p.m.

Silver Series Wins Ohio Derby

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gynecologist and horsebreeder Archie Donaldson is looking forward to matching his Silver Series—a sleek speedster bred from a mare that cost him a measly $2,500—against Seattle Slew.

After Silver Series galloped to a 4½-length victory in the $150,000 Ohio Derby at Thistledown on Sunday, Dr. Donaldson and his trainer, Oscar Dishman Jr., said they thought their horse could beat Slew, winner of racing's Triple Crown.

"I'd like to have another race or two with my horse first, though," said Dishman, noting that Slew "is a little more experienced."

Piloted by regular jockey Larry Snyder, Silver Series let Lynn Davis set the early pace Sunday, then took command at the far turn, opening up a two-length lead.

"I'd like to have another race or two with my horse first, though," said Dishman, noting that Slew "is a little more experienced."

"I was a little bit shocked about the trade," Twitchell admitted. "I had been there for six years. You get to know a lot of people and you get settled in. It was five o'clock in the morning Thursday when the phone rang, and I knew what it was for."

"I had never beaten that (Cincinnati) ball club before. I have pitched some very good ball games against them. There were three or four times I pitched against them and allowed two runs in seven or eight innings. Against that ball club, I figure that's a very strong outing."

Twitchell had been 0-7 lifetime against the Reds and 0-5 for the season with a 4.50 earned-run average.

He had not started a game for more than a month but said his arm felt fine and that he was pleased with some of his pitches, despite not having worked much in recent weeks.

The Expos broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning, getting home runs by Gary Carter and Andre Dawson and a three-run homer by Ellis Valentine.

The Reds came back with two runs in the fifth and another in the ninth but could not avoid their second loss in six games against Montreal this year.

Former Expos left-hander Woodie Fryman was charged with his fifth loss in seven decisions, but Fryman, who had been in the bullpen in recent weeks, said he has been told he will remain in the Reds' starting rotation.

"They hit me hard," Fryman said. "I pitched well in the first three innings and then made a couple of mistakes and they capitalized on them. The Expos have enough good hitters in their lineup to be able to take advantage of a mistake by a pitcher."

Jackie Brown, 4-4, pitches for Montreal tonight in the opener of a three-game series against Houston Astros, who will send J.R. Richard, 5-6, to the mound.

Fred Norman, 7-2, opens Cincinnati's three game visit at Philadelphia tonight. Jim Kaat, 1-5, will start for the Phils.

Your Horoscope

by FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): It will be important to distinguish carefully between facts and theories; also between facts and rumors. Before taking action, be sure where you're headed.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): If suggestions offered do not seem feasible, rule them out. Do not become too forceful in expressing views, but do stand by principles.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Keep emotions under stern control so as to insure better judgment in difficult situations. Further admonitions: Don't overtax yourself; don't overelaborate in handling details.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Good opportunities indicated but you, of course, must be alert to them. Use trump cards strategically; aim to score as often as possible.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good day for taking unusual steps.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A day for some reflection, digging in to reappraise conditions. Be ready, nevertheless, to move ahead when situations so demand.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Work for top gains but do not expect them immediately. Be concise in arrangements, stipulations, speech. Narrow the margin for error.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Day calls for special care in personal matters; tact in projecting aims, expressing desires. Act with discretion, perceptively.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stress logic and reason. Do not reply on hunches or another's say-so. Seek more knowledge of your subject: Your capacity for learning is infinite.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Groups and individuals will not feel the same about issues, plans. You be the quiet judge and discreet listener, and your influence will be potent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your intuition was right. A message from someone "in the know" confirms your own beliefs. Act promptly on information received.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't depart abruptly from a well-planned schedule, except where emergency so requires. Road may be bumpy in part, but rewards will be sweeter.

YOU BORN TODAY are clever, original and sensitive; endowed with a fine mind and a lively imagination. Travel has great appeal for you and you could succeed in any field which takes you afar but, if you choose to limit your journeys to pleasurable ends, your choice of careers is almost limitless, since your versatility is outstanding.

The theater would be an excellent outlet for your talents and in this area you could shine as actor, director, playwright or critic. Other fields in which you could excel: literature, the law, journalism, architecture.

Birthdate of: Jean Paul Sartre, French author, playwright.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): It will be important to distinguish carefully between facts and theories; also between facts and rumors. Before taking action, be sure where you're headed.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): If suggestions offered do not seem feasible, rule them out. Do not become too forceful in expressing views, but do stand by principles.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Keep emotions under stern control so as to insure better judgment in difficult situations. Further admonitions: Don't overtax yourself; don't overelaborate in handling details.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Good opportunities indicated but you, of course, must be alert to them. Use trump cards strategically; aim to score as often as possible.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good day for taking unusual steps.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A day for some reflection, digging in to reappraise conditions. Be ready, nevertheless, to move ahead when situations so demand.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Work for top gains but do not expect them immediately. Be concise in arrangements, stipulations, speech. Narrow the margin for error.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Day calls for special care in personal matters; tact in projecting aims, expressing desires. Act with discretion, perceptively.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stress logic and reason. Do not reply on hunches or another's say-so. Seek more knowledge of your subject: Your capacity for learning is infinite.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Groups and individuals will not feel the same about issues, plans. You be the quiet judge and discreet listener, and your influence will be potent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your intuition was right. A message from someone "in the know" confirms your own beliefs. Act promptly on information received.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

Charge Men With Theft Of Cart

Two men have been arrested in connection with the Friday afternoon theft of a metal clothes basket from Porters Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 1185 N. Court St.

Charged with petty theft are Rodney A. Phillips, 20, Tampa, Fla., and Timothy A. Lee, 19, Route 2, Conneaut, Pa. Both men are employed as carnival workers.

Witnesses gave Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff a description of the men and the vehicle they used to carry the cart from the laundry.

Phillips was stopped by Circleville Police Sgt. Jim Francis 5:40 p.m. Saturday in connection with the theft, Deputy Franklin said.

The cart was recovered.

Y Offers Swimming Instruction

The Pickaway County YMCA is again offering instructional swimming classes to area residents.

Session I classes start the week of June 20 and continue through July 15, meeting twice a week.

There is still time to sign up for this session, the second session, which meets July 18 through August 12, and the third accelerated session meeting August 15 through 26.

Classes start at age three and continue up through the progressive program.

Two convenient locations are being used again this year.

Morning classes from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. are offered at Elsea's Mobile Home Pool. Levels taught here are Minnow, Poliwig, Tadpole, Fish, and a Fin and Snorkel class.

Afternoon classes from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. are offered at the L-K Motel Pool and levels taught here include Minnow, Poliwig, Tadpole and a women's beginning class.

Two veteran instructors are instructing the classes.

Kathy Johnson is a Red Cross trained lifesaver and Water Safety Instructor. She is also a junior physical education major at Mount Union College in Alliance.

Virginia Johnson graduated from Miami University in Oxford with a B.S. in Physical Education. She is also Red Cross certified, and is a YMCA certified pre-school swim instructor, Aquatic Instructor and Aquatic Director.

These instructors feel that this summer's YMCA swim program will be better than ever! If you are interested in participating in the YMCA swimming program, or desire further information, stop in at the YMCA on Franklin Street, or call 477-1661.

Arrests

OSP

Bobby Straigh, 23, Columbus, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence.

Willard Warner, 24, Columbus, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence.

POLICE

Robert A. Greiner, 35, 239 E. Ohio St., assault.

Vickie Spencer, 19, Columbus, possession.

SHERIFF

Rodney A. Phillips, 20, Tampa, Fla., petty theft.

Timothy A. Lee, 19, Route 2, Conneaut, Pa., petty theft.

Kenneth R. Parker, 21, 1750 Chipewa Dr., assault.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two people were injured in a 4:26 a.m. Sunday accident on Route 762, six-tenths of a mile east of Route 104.

Treated at Mercy Hospital for abrasions of her left leg, mouth, and face, and back injuries was Carol D. Smith, 19, Route 1, Lockbourne.

A passenger in her car, Danny R. Horney, 19, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was referred to a doctor for treatment of left arm and elbow injuries.

The Scioto Twp. Emergency Squad gave aid at the scene of the accident, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal.

Deputy Deal said Ms. Smith was driving east on Route 762 and went off the right side of the road.

Her car struck four guardrail posts and several trees.

Churches Honor The Rev. Morrow

Members of the Village United Methodist Church and the Hedges Chapel United Methodist Church will honor their pastor with a carry-in dinner 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Village Church, Ashville.

The dinner will be in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Starling Morrow and their son, Kirby.

The Rev. Morrow will be leaving the church to take the West Clark Methodist Church charge in Columbus.

Members of both the Village Church and the Hedges Chapel Church are invited.

OYC Evaluation Set For Youth

Ricky Lee Hoffman, 16, of 9423 Stoutsville Pike, Stoutsville, was ordered to the temporary care of the Ohio Youth Commission by acting Juvenile Court Judge William Ammer Friday.

Hoffman was charged with negligent homicide after the shooting death of Renee Cavender May 26.

After four to six weeks of evaluation at OYC, officials will send an analysis report to Judge Ammer. Further judgment based on the report will be made at that time.

Paint Valley Mental Health Hears Request For Funds

The regular Board Meeting of the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board was held June 15 at the Ross County Medical Center.

Pete Jacobs, director of the Pike County Drug Council, Inc., requested $2,400 to complete his fiscal year. Jacobs related, "The amount is due to the inability of Waverly City Council and Piketon City Council to come up with a local share contribution due to unexpected added expenses they have had this year."

The 648 Board voted to grant the Drug Council $2,400 from any unexpended State Subsidy funds which are unused and-or by granting an advance on the Drug Council's Title XX funds for next year.

In other action the Board approved submission of two 314 (d) grants from the Scioto-Paint Valley Mental Health Center. One grant is a demonstration project proposal for the Pike County aftercare program and the other is for a geriatric outreach worker in Ross County. The grants will now be reviewed by Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation, Districts Seven and Eight of Mental Health; with the final funding decision being made by the State of Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The Board also accepted grant money totalling $84,591 from the State Bureau of Drug Abuse. $59,151 will fund the substance Abuse program of the Scioto-Paint Valley Mental Health Center. These new monies will enable the program to have a full time drug abuse counselor in Fayette, Highland, Pickaway and Ross Counties for fiscal year 1978.

Pike County Drug Council realizes $29,440 as their portion for their drug program in fiscal year 1978.

The project director, Anna Marie Stott, and assistant planner, Billie Costigan, funded under a federal grant to study mental health needs of the five counties and based on those needs submit a federal grant for comprehensive mental health services, were introduced to the Board. They explained their role and time frame for developing the project. They also appealed to the board membership to make their home communities aware of the total involvement needed by citizens in development of mental health.

Charge Men With Theft Of Cart

Two men have been arrested in connection with the Friday afternoon theft of a metal clothes basket from Porters Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 1185 N. Court St.

Charged with petty theft are Rodney A. Phillips, 20, Tampa, Fla., and Timothy A. Lee, 19, Route 2, Conneaut, Pa. Both men are employed as carnival workers.

Witnesses gave Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff a description of the men and the vehicle they used to carry the cart from the laundry.

Phillips was stopped by Circleville Police Sgt. Jim Francis 5:40 p.m. Saturday in connection with the theft, Deputy Franklin said.

The cart was recovered.

Y Offers Swimming Instruction

The Pickaway County YMCA is again offering instructional swimming classes to area residents.

Session I classes start the week of June 20 and continue through July 15, meeting twice a week.

There is still time to sign up for this session, the second session, which meets July 18 through August 12, and the third accelerated session meeting August 15 through 26.

Classes start at age three and continue up through the progressive program.

Two convenient locations are being used again this year.

Morning classes from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. are offered at Elsea's Mobile Home Pool. Levels taught here are Minnow, Piliwig, Tadpole, Fish, and a Fin and Snorkel class.

Afternoon classes from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. are offered at the L-K Motel Pool and levels taught here include Minnow, Piliwig, Tadpole and a women's beginning class.

Two veteran instructors are instructing the classes.

Kathy Johnson is a Red Cross trained lifesaver and Water Safety Instructor. She is also a junior physical education major at Mount Union College in Alliance.

Virginia Johnson graduated from Miami University in Oxford with a B.S. in Physical Education. She is also Red Cross certified, and is a YMCA certified pre-school swim instructor, Aquatic Instructor and Aquatic Director.

These instructors feel that this summer's YMCA swim program will be better than ever! If you are interested in participating in the YMCA swimming program, or desire further information, stop in at the YMCA on Franklin Street, or call 477-1661.

Two Hurt In Crash

Two people were injured in a 4:26 a.m. Sunday accident on Route 762, six-tenths of a mile east of Route 104.

Treated at Mercy Hospital for abrasions of her left leg, mouth, and face, and back injuries was Carol D. Smith, 19, Route 1, Lockbourne.

A passenger in her car, Danny R. Horney, 19, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was referred to a doctor for treatment of left arm and elbow injuries.

The Scioto Twp. Emergency Squad gave aid at the scene of the accident, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal.

Deputy Deal said Ms. Smith was driving east on Route 762 and went off the right side of the road.

Her car struck four guardrail posts and several trees.

All Kroger Beef is 100% U.S. Govt. Graded Choice!

Don't settle for anything less!

Kroger means better meat, better quality, better trim, better packaging!

Kroger sells only 100% U.S.D.A. Government Inspected U.S.D.A. Graded CHOICE BEEF. It's processed and handled for better quality control and product protection in our own modern distribution plant.

Kroger beef is a much better value too! It's trimmed of excess fat and waste to no more than 1/2 inch on each steak and roast and then carefully packaged best side down for your shopping convenience.

KROGER TRIM
on meat is unmatched in the market. All excess fat and waste are removed before steaks are weighed and priced. External fat is no more than 1/2" on all steaks and roasts, 1/4" on pork.

All Kroger Beef is 100% U.S. Govt. Graded Choice!

Don't settle for anything less!

Kroger means better meat, better quality, better trim, better packaging!

Kroger sells only 100% U.S.D.A. Government Inspected U.S.D.A. Graded CHOICE BEEF. It's processed and handled for better quality control and product protection in our own modern distribution plant.

Kroger beef is a much better value too! It's trimmed of excess fat and waste to no more than 1/2 inch on each steak and roast and then carefully packaged best side down for your shopping convenience.

KROGER TRIM
on meat is unmatched in the market. All excess fat and waste are removed before steaks are weighed and priced. External fat is no more than 1/2" on all steaks and roasts, 1/4" on pork.
